Stephanie Evergreen's PERSONAL ANNUAL REPORT

the year in which most metrics went down

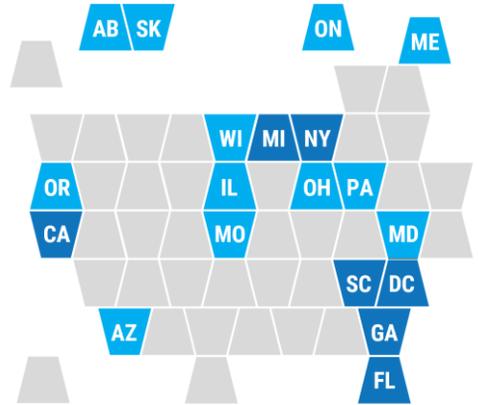

WORKSHOPPING

I delivered 72 workshops this year...

to 3,597

people, online and in these locations: In flight for almost half as many miles as last year, due to fewer international excursions.

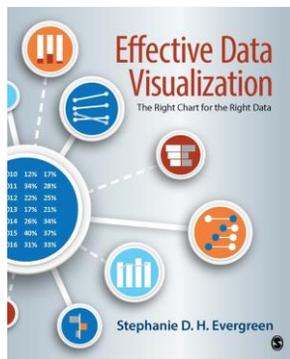

Light blue – I was there once
Dark blue – more than once

WRITING

Blog readership started stronger than ever...

I wrote the 2nd edition of my 2nd book...

coming soon!

published a chapter on how I have dealt with failure, released a website that helps you improve your data visualizations,

Rate your visualization and yet still managed to tweet 814 times.

more frequently on days I'm supposed to be book writing.

HAVING FUN

Grew the Evergreen Data Visualization Academy

& filling up every time we open enrollment

Launched a mentoring program focused on female entrepreneurs

next call for applicants: Feb '19

Ditched 111 plastic water bottles in favor of my reusable canteen saving enough energy to run a lightbulb for 51 days straight.

AHEAD IN 2019

3 more Evergreen Data team members

2 books!

1 wedding to plan

Sometime in 2019 I'll train my 25,000th person.

Could it be you?
